

THIS MONTH AT THE SPA

Healthy Living Activities

As our season winds down try to remain focused on your health and happiness. With the warm weather that never seems to cool off remember to exercise and drink plenty of water. If you're spending the day at the beach grab a water bottle and take a stroll down the beach, If you're at the mall take a few laps around the mall without stopping at any stores. Put on a hat, grab water and head out for a bike ride on the town. Make it something every little bit helps!

Wellness & Healing

Balance Your Life.

Relaxation is a profoundly healing state. In fact, it may be the most fundamental healing state that you are capable of. In this state all your inborn tendencies toward balance and harmony are allowed to express themselves. The benefits of this special state are really the result of helping your body and mind to rest deeply. When you are free of stress and tensions, your body's tendencies toward balance are given the opportunity to assert themselves.
